What is Declining Balance?

Declining Balance (DB) is like a debit card that allows you to make purchases by swiping your Student ID. It can be used at any of our locations, including Starbucks, Papa John's, Einstein Bros. Bagels, and Quiznos. If you run low, you can add more at any dining location. Unused DB after the fall semester will roll over to the winter, but any DB left after the winter semester is forfeited. Students save six percent on most DB purchases.

What are Block Meals?

Block meals can only be used at the all-you-care-to-eat Marketplace at Doan located in the Doan Center, adjacent to Independent Bank. When you enter the Marketplace, you "swipe" in, deducting one meal from your block. Once in the Marketplace, you can eat however much you want and stay however long you want. Once you exit, though, you'd need to use another swipe to get in. You can also use blocks of meals on other people and any unused meals roll over from fall to winter. Any meals left after the winter semester, however, are forfeited.

What are Weekly Plans?

Weekly plans are selected mostly by individuals who live on campus and freshmen living on campus have to have one of those three plans. Each plan comes with an allotment of meals per week, which resets each Sunday morning. The plan also includes a DB amount which can be used at any dining location on campus. Unused DB rolls over from fall to winter semester but is forfeited at the end of the winter
